

Oyez, oyez! Colette Tougas

proclaimed distinguished member of OBORO!

OBORO's board of directors has granted Colette Tougas the status of distinguished member to underline her unwavering support of the organization since its foundation and also in recognition of her exceptional contribution to the artistic community.

A gifted writer, essayist, editor and translator, Colette Tougas has actively and wholeheartedly contributed to the Québécois and Canadian arts scene for more than 25 years. At OBORO, more specifically, Colette has collaborated on many publication projects and has served on the organization's board of directors from 2002 to 2009 as secretary-treasurer. As such, she contributed to the drafting of the Governance Policy and helped organize the program for OBORO's 25th Anniversary.

Beyond her remarkable talents, OBORO wishes to honour and celebrate our friend and colleague Colette Tougas' vivacity, her humour, her joie de vivre, her enthusiasm, not to mention her legendary straight talking and infinite generosity.

Colette Tougas' nomination follows that of Richard Purdy in 2006.
